

Byrd Baggett, CSP

The word that best describes our next speaker is original. His story is unlike any other, as he speaks from experience.

He was an All American athlete at the University of Texas, had successful careers with two Fortune 500 companies, and then the bottom fell out of his life!

During a five-year period his mother died - his best friend died - he spent three days in cardiac intensive care – he was a passenger in a plane that lost power and dropped 16,000 feet over the Rocky Mountains - he was downsized from an executive position at the age of 42. Finally, he and his family lost all their possessions in a bizarre moving van fire.

That's when he decided that things needed to change!

He recovered from the adversity to publish 13 best-selling books and is a nationally recognized professional speaker whose high-energy presentations on leadership, team building, personal performance and life balance continue to touch hearts and challenge minds. His passion is helping people and teams grow to the richly rewarding Season of Significance.

Please help me welcome Certified Speaking Professional, Mr. Byrd Baggett!
